Professional Experience

Having grown up with a Father who owned a construction company, Jamie's experience in the construction field began at a very early age as he learned the trade from the ground floor up. Beginning his Architectural career in 1983, he now has over 30 years of experience in all project types, including government, medical, commercial, educational, religious, residential and industrial facilities, to name a few. His experience includes, project management, design, REVIT and Auto CAD, on-site inspections, writing specifications, and project observation. His designs have won National Awards as well as Local Awards.

In 2013, Jamie became a Principal in the firm Brown O'Dell & Partners Architects, and in this new role, he will continue to use his vast experience to deliver a successful project.
